Plant metabolism researchers have found that the nutrients that plants absorb are simple ions in water. Under natural conditions, the soil is actually the nutrient reservoir, but the soil itself is not essential for plant growth. With the help of the roots, the plants can absorb the nutrients in the soil when dissolved in water. When the nutrients needed for the plant are artificially added to the plant's irrigation water, the plant does not need a rich soil substrate to exist.

Ariel Global created the ARIEL HOME - KIT. We believe everyone should have access to great products at even better prices. By distributing our products to the growers in your community, you help us in our mission to inspire people to grow their own plants. We have the perfect kit for your needs!

VANILLA

Vanilla comes from orchids of the genus Vanilla. While the major species of vanilla orchids are now grown in Madagascar and Reunion Island, although they originally came from Mexico and Guatemala. The vanilla orchid is a vine-like plant that grows up trees. The vanilla pod is frequently referred to as the bean, they are picked when they are still not ripe, and then plunged into hot water and laid out to dry for anywhere from two to six months. The vanilla pod contains thousands of tiny black seeds. Vanilla is the most-expensive spice, the vanilla extract comes from macerating vanilla beans and mixing them with water and alcohol, it's the most commonly purchased form of vanilla and cheaper than vanilla beans.

Today , the bakeries and ice-cream makers have to use synthetic substitutes that just don't taste the same due the high price of the natural vanilla. ARIEL GLOBAL believe that this situation needs to change, we have been researching this product for the last 3 years and we will start to sell to the local market and export vanilla in 2023 for competitive prices .

POMEGRANATE

Pomegranates are rich in vitamins and have healing properties. Long recognized for their healthful properties, they contain vitamins A, B, and C, iron, calcium and other essential minerals. They are also rich in antioxidants, which are beneficial for blood circulation, and to the heart. Thus, pomegranates are effective in helping heart disease and arteriosclerosis, and in easing inflammatory conditions. According to research recently conducted on pomegranate juice and seed oil by the University of California and the Technion Institute of Technology in Israel, pomegranates neutralize free radicals three times more than green tea or red wine. According to the study, If consumed daily over a long period of time, the powerful antioxidants in pomegranates may help to combat cancer and may also prevent hardening of the arteries. Today the pomegranate has become one of the fastest growing trends in the food industry. The recent studies revealing a multitude of health benefits have led to a rapid increase in the popularity of the fruit worldwide.

ARIEL GLOBAL developed a full pomegranate project in India , nursery , greenhouse and production. We want to share this experience with you and implement this project in your country.
